

What was the that quote thats sounds like “for you a thousand times over”

The quote you’re referring to is:

“For you, a thousand times over.”
— Khaled Hosseini, The Kite Runner

This line is one of the most iconic in the novel and encapsulates the themes of loyalty, sacrifice, and redemption. It is first spoken by Hassan to Amir when he runs to fetch a kite for him, and it reappears later in the story, symbolising Amir’s journey towards atonement. Amir echoes this phrase when he promises to run a kite for Sohrab, Hassan’s son, thus completing the circle of loyalty and love.

The repetition of this phrase throughout the novel highlights the depth of Hassan’s devotion and Amir’s eventual understanding of that devotion. It’s a poignant reminder of the enduring power of love and the possibility of redemption.
